

USA, USSR & Middle East

majority of the Jews in Palestine were of Russian, Polish, Hungarian, Rumanian, Lithuanian or Czechoslovakian origin assuring their friendship for the Soviet Union. David Ben-Gurion and the late Moshe Sherstok (Sharett) both assured the Soviet Union that so-called "Israel" would always remain the ally of the Soviet Union. They pointed out the basic way of life of Jews as practiced in kibutz settlements in Palestine was based upon Marxist ideology. These kibutz settlements are patterned after communist settlements in the Soviet Union. Soviet policy makers saw the importance to them of the continued existence of so-called "Israel" as the best means for Soviet penetration of the Middle East as history now bears witness.

Jewish Leaders Unleashed Communism

It is important to recall here that in 1917 Jewish leaders in Europe and the United States plotted the Bolshevik revolution in Russia unleashing communism on the world. Karl Marx was born a Jew. Lenin's mother was Jewish and according to Jewish law, he also was a Jew. He was married to a Jewess. Trotsky was a Jew and so was Kaganovich's father. It is a fact that Zionist leaders in Europe played the leading roles planning and leading the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. Jewish banking houses in New York financed it. Lenin kept in constant touch with Chaim Weizmann (the first president of so-called "Israel" in 1948) and held numerous meetings with Weizmann and his colleagues in Switzerland. These meetings were described in December 1967 issue of 'Atlas' magazine, in an article which stated:

"A series of meetings between Lenin and Weizmann were held there at the home of Jewish industrialist Daniel Schoni during May, 1916. They discussed the Marxist-Socialist revolution in Russia as well as the 'Jewish blueprint for the East,' a document which had been prepared by a committee of European Jewish Socialist leaders in Austria in 1908. They wanted to open the doors so that Jewish people could settle in Palestine and form a Socialist state there. This would serve as a base from which Marxist philosophy could then spread throughout the Middle East." The article then continues with:

"According to the record of the discussion kept by Jacques Levy, who was an agent of the Alsace branch of French intelligence, Lenin said to Weizmann: 'The liberation of Jewry from the yoke of Europe's kings and rulers and the elevation of the Jews to important state positions depend on a successful Russian revolution. The revolution will attain for the dispersed Jews what the French Revolution of 1789 failed to achieve.' Weizmann said to Lenin: 'Opening the doors to the East and the Jewish settlement in Palestine hinge on the destruction of the Ottoman Empire... A Jewish state must be built in Palestine on Socialist foundations, when the Russian Socialist Revolution has attained its objectives.'

The International Conspiracy of Jews

An official document of the British War Cabinet, reference CAB 214/83, dated July 3rd 1916, is an official report of the Directorate of Intelligence of the Home Office, and can only now be quoted. In it appears:

"Definite evidence has been received that the leaders in the Bolshevik movement in England, France and America are in touch with one another and with Moscow, and that the Bolshevik movement is an international conspiracy of Jews."

According to another official report to the British War Cabinet, contained in Volume CAB 24/84, in secret report No. 9, from the Directorate of Intelligence (Home Office) of Scotland House, S.W.1., dated 16th July 1919, the following appears:

"There is now definite evidence that Bolshevism is an international movement controlled by Jews; communications are passing between the leaders in America, France, Russia, and England, with a view to concerted action. Buda-Pest is merely an outpost of the Russian Soviet government."

A third important report in the British

Public Record Office, Reference No. F.O. 371/6846, letter from Sir Ronald Graham to Earl Curzon, dated February 19, 1921, in which Sir Graham presents these figures: 'My Lord,

I have the honour to transmit to your Lordship translations of two documents communicated privately to me by the Netherlands Minister for Foreign Affairs, the first showing the influence of the Jewish element in the Soviet Administration and the second dealing with the instructions issued to Soviet agents abroad.

The headquarters of the Communist movement in the Middle East is in Tel-Aviv and has had at its disposal unlimited sums of money to spend throughout the Middle East including the Arab countries. So-called "Israel" today has two communist parties each with members elected to the Knesset. Arab countries do not permit communist parties to function in spite of the military assistance being supplied to Arab States by the Soviet Union for many years.

The economic system in so-called "Israel" is Marxist. The illegal "Jewish State" which usurped 94% of Palestine, territory owned by Christian and Moslem Arabs, administers this stolen territory as "state property." Jews established kibutz settlements on Arab lands modeled on communist farms in the Soviet Union. The Histadrut, a communist labour-union in so-called "Israel" owns and operates 80% of all industry. Instead of referring to Israel as "a bulwark of democracy in the Middle East," Americans should refer to it as "a bulwark of Marxism in the Middle East."

Readers May Question Status Quo

The American reader may question, why is it, if communism is Jewish, if Bolshevism is an international movement controlled by Jews, if the Soviet Union assisted in the creation of "Israel" in 1947-48 and bolstered its existence and defense, why, if "Israel" economy and kibutz settlements are based on Marxist principles, then why does the Soviet Union now take a position in the Middle East crisis favouring the Arabs against Israel? The answer is very logical.

There is no doubt that since 1956 the Soviet Union has supplied Arab countries with weapons worth billions of dollars. When in June 1967 the Jew gangsters of Tel-Aviv launched their blitzkrieg, the Soviet Union condemned that "Israel" aggression and demanded immediate withdrawal of their armed forces from the occupied territories. The Soviet Union insists upon upholding the principles of international law and United Nations charter that aggression must not be rewarded. Zionist propagandists represent this Soviet attitude as "anti-Israel." They charge that the Soviet Union is acting in the Four Big Powers conferences as attorney for the Arab States.

However, if we examine the facts it appears that the Soviet Union is not against Israel. The Soviet Union supports the United Nations Security Council resolution of the 22nd of November 1967. That infamous resolution calls upon the Arab States to recognize the existence and sovereignty of the illegal Jewish regime in occupied Palestine. The Soviet Union recognizes and supports the existence, sovereignty and rights of so-called "Israel," refraining from recognizing the Arab right to liberate Palestine from Jewish illegal occupation. Arab delegates to the United Nations and Arab representatives who visited the Soviet Union year after year never could obtain assurances from the Soviet Union that the Soviet Union supports official recognition of the inalienable right of the people of Palestine to possession and sovereignty in their ancestral homeland in occupied Palestine.

Soviet policy makers know the existence of so-called "Israel" in the Middle East affords them the opportunity they sought to penetrate and dominate the Middle East. The Soviet Union bases its Middle-East policy on the best interests of the Soviet Union, not upon the best interests of either Arabs or Jews. In contrast, United States Middle East policy is dictated by Zionist pressure which is inimical to the United States best interests and achieves Zionist objectives.

There is cogent evidence supporting the belief that the Soviet Union was aware of so-called "Israel" military plans in connivance with President Johnson's Administration to start the June 1967 war. The Soviet Union as well as the United States were sure in that well prepared blitzkrieg the Arabs must lose the war and must thus become totally dependent upon the Soviet Union.

Soviet policy makers know the colonial expansionist objectives of so-called "Israel." They know that the Jewish minority in the United States dominates the administration, the Congress, and the media of mass-information. They know that leading United States politicians are the captives of Zionist pressure groups. Soviet policy makers are thrilled by the mistakes of the United States in supporting Jewish colonialism in the Arab world, making the United States the enemy of Middle East Arab and Muslim nations.

Jew War Criminals and Their U.S. Lobbyists

The Jew war criminals and their lobbyists in the United States convinced 60 U.S. Senators, 250 members of the House of Representatives, and the policy makers in the administration, that United States objectives can be best served by maintaining the military superiority of so-called "Israel" against the Arab States. They argue that so-called "Israel" be supplied with the sophisticated weapons required to maintain that superiority. They argue: "America's stake in a strong Israel." They argue that "a strong Israel is the best guarantee against Soviet penetration in the Middle East." Zionist lobbyists seek to identify the interests of so-called "Israel" with the interests of the United States. They drag the Middle East conflict into the U.S. "cold war" arguing that "as long as the Soviet Union is helping the Arabs the United States must help 'Israel'." The Zionists are succeeding in the isolation of the United States from the Arab World.

These Zionist arguments only deceive. By maintaining military superiority for aggressive expansionist so-called "Israel," the United States assumes the heavy responsibility of keeping the Middle East in turmoil. Providing "Israel" with Phantom and Skyhawk bombers and their other sophisticated weapons, the United States enables "Israel" to make heavy air strikes into the heart of the United Arab Republic, resulting in massacres of civilians, including children. The United States officially permits American pilots to serve in the air force of so-called "Israel." These menacing factors resulted in the escalation of the war and involvement of the Big Four Powers. The Soviet Union is now supplying the United Arab Republic with SAM-3 (surface-to-air) missiles. They are now seriously thinking of supplying the United Arab Republic with their MIG-23
